Problem Statement

The state of wash areas, sanitation facilities, and classrooms in government schools presents a critical problem that demands immediate attention. These schools often suffer from inadequate and unsanitary wash areas, where students lack access to clean and functioning toilets and handwashing facilities. Poor sanitation conditions not only jeopardize the health and hygiene of students but also contribute to the spread of preventable diseases. Moreover, the classroom infrastructure in many government schools is often dilapidated, lacking proper ventilation, lighting, and suitable furniture. This substandard learning environment hinders students' ability to concentrate and learn effectively.

- Lack of access to Drinking Water and Hand Wash Stations for the students
